SECOND DAY'S WORK BAPTIST CONVENTION

A Good program Prepared for Today's Sessions.

In the report of the proceedings of yesterday's session, through a typographical error, it was said the Baptist churches are not bound by the bible. It would have been no greater error to have said that there are no Baptist churches. The only thing that is regarded as binding, and from which there is no appeal, is the bible, which the Baptists accept as their only rule of faith and practice. Their only authority. They believe it all, and they practice it. But what was said in the manuscript of the report was that Baptist churches are not bound by nor do they accept as authority, anything except the bible. They have always stood for the faith, once for all delivered to the saints. They deny the right of any man, set of men, or organization to change the word or its original meaning. The Baptists have for their discipline the bible, and each church, being a separate and independent democracy, works out its own faith and practice from the teachings of the bible, as it understands it, relying on the holy spirit for guidance.

In understanding the bible. They have always believed in the complete separation of church and state, and the independence of the individual conscience. There are now over 5,000,000 Baptists. They outnumber in numbers any of the protestant churches.

Yesterday's session was opened with devotional services led by Rev. A. C. Burkholder of Yuma, who emphasized the importance of prayer.

The president being absent, the morning session was presided over by Dr. V. M. Spaulding of Tucson.

The report of Rev. R. D. Latter as colporteur, was read and adopted. The report shows great work being done in this territory in supplying bibles and other good books to the people, in addition to preaching by the colporteur, as he goes from place to place.

Rev. J. C. Chapin of Tempe, read the report on home missions, which was adopted. This report shows a hearty cooperation of the Arizona Baptists with the American Baptist Home Mission society. Dr. N. B. Ralston of Omaha, representing the American Baptist Home Mission society, brought to the Arizona Baptist convention the greetings of the society he represents. He made a strong and enthusiastic plea for mission work in Mexico.

Miss Mary McLean gave a most encouraging report of her work among the Hopi Indians. Her's is purely a work of love and faith. She was followed by a young man, a Hopi Indian who told of his conversion to Christianity. It was a touching story. It was the sweet old story of the peace that comes into the heart given to Jesus. His story brought tears to many eyes. He said, "I like Jesus' way, I like to hear you talk of him. It makes my heart strong." Another young Indian told of the joy that came into his life when he gave his heart to Jesus. He said, "I am glad you people are praying for my people."

The committee on place and preacher selected Douglas as the next meeting place, and Rev. Wm. Pearce of Tempe to preach the annual sermon. Rev. J. A. Howard of Globe, is to preach the missionary sermon.

The afternoon session was preceded by devotional services led by Rev. Wm. Pearce. Evangelistic work among the Mexicans was the subject of a very interesting paper by Rev. Arthur St. C. Sloan. It was filled with words of wisdom and encouragement. The convention heartily endorsed the establishment of a preparatory school for Mexican christian workers.

The convention next took up the consideration of Sunday school work. Rev. Eugene Keene was the first speaker. He spoke especially of the importance of mission work in the Sunday schools. Dr. A. W. Rider followed, speaking especially of the methods of teaching in Sunday school. C. C. Young discussed the relation of the pastor to the Sunday school. The importance of the Sunday school as an evangelizing force cannot well be over estimated.

The crowning feature of the afternoon session was an address by Dr. Cornelius Woolfkin of Brooklyn, N. Y., on Sunday school evangelism. Dr. Woolfkin is the general evangelist of the American Baptist Home Mission society. His words were like "apples of gold in pictures of silver." He said

It has been found from investigation that about 34 per cent of conversions have occurred between the ages of 12 and 17. Prayer was the central thought of which Dr. Woolfkin said: The period, place, privacy, persons in and promise of prayer, were given as the heads to the first lesson in prayer.

OFFICER STUMBLER THE COCOPAH DIED

The Accidental Killing of an Indian at Yuma.

Deputy Sheriff Ignacio Molina shot and killed a Cocopah Indian Sunday evening while attempting to arrest him for being drunk and disorderly.

Molina had been watching a crowd of Indians for some time in an effort to learn where they were getting liquor. He decided to arrest the whole crowd, but as Molina approached the Indians fled. He pursued them to Maiden Lane, where he caught up with two Cocopahs and attempted to place them under arrest, but they broke and ran again. The officer had felt a whiskey bottle under the shirt of one, and this one he pursued. The officer called to the Indian to stop and fired three shots while in pursuit. According to his account of the matter and other eye witnesses to the affair, he was firing into the air for the purpose of inducing the Indian to stop. At this juncture, however, he stumbled and fell, and the fourth shot from his gun struck the Cocopah in the back, the man dying a few minutes later.

The larger portion of Monday was occupied by the coroner's inquest. Dr.
Pugh testified as to character of the wound. He said the bullet, which was a 32-calibre, entered the back of the left of the spine, passed entirely through the body and made its exit just above and forward of the hip bone.
Death resulted from a hemorrhage, as a large artery had been severed. After passing through the Indian's body the bullet smashed the wine bottle that caused the trouble.

Frederico and Louis Cornu were witnesses of the occurrence, and they corroborated Molina as to his stumbling when the fatal shot was fired, and also as to the first three shots having been fired in the air.

The coroner's jury composed of Rodney Madison, foreman; J. J. Kelley, J.
M. Polhamus, N. S. Parks, Henry Levy, E. A. Ingram and A. R. Chretien, rendered a verdict that the Cocopah met his death from a gunshot fired by Ignacio Molina accidentally, fully exonerating the officer.—Yuma Sun.
